OSINT 2020: The Future of Open Source Intelligence

Keynote Speaker: Mr. Dan Butler, Assistant Deputy Director for Open Source,
Office of the Director of National Intelligence (ODNI)

Thursday, June 17, 2010
1:00 – 3:00 P.M. (Doors open at noon)
National Press Club, Washington, D.C.

No Charge. Seating may be limited. RSVP at www.lexisnexis.com/osint

The program will include keynote remarks by Mr. Dan Butler, Assistant Deputy Director for Open Source, Office of the Director of National Intelligence (ODNI), followed by a "perspectives" discussion with leading experts among our group of distinguished attendees. The discussion will be based on the future of OSINT as a recognized discipline in strategic and tactical national security decision-making.

OSINT 2020 Panelists:

*Mr. Alexander Joel, Civil Liberties Protection Officer, ODNI

*Mr. Doug Magoffin, Chief, Defense Intelligence Open Source Program Office

*Mr. Kevin O'Connell, Adjunct Professor, Georgetown University and President/CEO of Innovative Analytics and Training

*Dr. Mark Gabriele, Booz Allen Hamilton

*Mr. Kenneth Rapuano, Director of Advanced Systems & Policy, The MITRE Corporation

About the OSINT Round Table hosted by LexisNexis

The OSINT Round Table was created to make a public space for discussion about the government's needs for Open Source Intelligence in order to facilitate relationships between government officials and private sector leaders. We seek to foster an increasingly responsive open source intelligence infrastructure that meets the needs of national security decision makers.

LexisNexis